Triumphâ€™s Tiger 800 ABS is the more road orientated version of the middleweight triple. The engine was already a gem but with the stroke lengthened to take it up to 799cc, primarily to fatten-up the low end grunt, albeit at the expense of some top end, turns the Tiger 800?s powerplant into an easy, seamless, idiot-proof jewel. What?s most impressive is the handling quality. Their set-up is such that, overall, on road itâ€™s more than capable of mixing it with sports bikes and are a real blast to ride, while at the same time being decently stable, comfortable long distance
