Our online Oxbridge application tutorials (via Skype or FaceTime) are designed to meet the needs of tutees wishing to make an application to read French, German or Spanish (single or joint honours) at one of the world-renowned Oxford or Cambridge (Oxbridge) Universities. Our online tutorials (via Skype or FaceTime) have two objectives: To guide tutees through the whole process of applying to Oxbridge (Oxford or Cambridge); To prepare tutees thoroughly for Oxbridge (Oxford or Cambridge) admissions tests and interviews. By understanding how interviews and admissions tests work, and what Oxbridge (Oxford or Cambridge) tutors are looking for, tutees can maximise their potential in application and increase their chances of securing an offer. Our online Oxbridge application tutorials (via Skype or FaceTime) focus on the following: Course choice - Tutees are guided through the variety of Modern Foreign Language courses to make sure their chosen course is compatible with their skills, strengths, interests, selected Year 12/13 subjects, and career aspirations. College selection - Tutees are guided through the process of choosing the College that is most suitable for them. Personal statement - This is an important part of the Oxbridge application process, and tutees work closely with their online tutor to produce their draft and final personal statements. Admissions tests - Tutees applying for Oxbridge (Oxford or Cambridge) will be required to complete Oxbridge admissions tests. For Oxford these will be the Modern Language Admission Test (MLAT), the Language Aptitude Test and the Linguistics Test (for tutees whose chosen course is combined with linguistics or includes the study of linguistics in the first year). For Cambridge this will be the Modern and Medieval Languages (MML) written test. Tutees work through proprietary questions and papers, as well as published specimen papers, to help develop their language skills, familiarise themselves with format and question type, and build confidence. Interview technique - Tutees whose written application is successful will be called to interview. Oxbridge (Oxford or Cambridge) interviews are a notorious challenge and our online tutorials help tutees to prepare for this. Tutees will be given mock interviews during which they will be asked to tackle questions and scenarios of their own choice. Tutees will be able to choose to study via online (via Skype or FaceTime) or in person (at a time that suits them) for you. If you are a tutee, we can help you to secure a place at either Oxford or Cambridge.
