Lamb's Rum Victory 70s Bottling NoteProduced in the 1970s, this rare decanter depicts the HMS Victory, sailing steady across the Seven Seas. Within the decanter is, of course, Lamb's Navy Rum. A shipshape piece of sea-fairing memorabilia. Henry Burgum - HMS Warrior Decanter

Lamb's Navy Rum decanter from the Alfred Lamb's Victorian Ships Collection. On the back, the decanter reads - "As the first ocean going battleship built wholly of iron, Warrior was the most revolutionary and powerful of her day, rendering all others obsolete overnight. 'A black vicious ugly customer as ever I saw' said Charles Dickens of this magnificent vessel. Yet within a few years she wa herself out-dated, slipping down the Navy List to become a shabby hulk. Miraculously she was saved from the srapyard and, noe restored to her full Victorian splendour, she lives on to tell the tale as a museum ship in Portsmouth. A story of survival beyond the imagination of Dickens himself."This is pick up only no.
