If you know how to record you can hire the studio for £10 per hour, whether to record to backing tracks or record a band or a group or too mix pre-recorded tracks. Amps and drums are available and a full set of mikes to record with. If you don't know how to record, an engineer will help you set up and spend as much time as you like for £30 per hour. It's usual to have the aid of the engineer for the first hour and then control the rest of the time yourself for £10 per hour. Available 24 hours per day (with daytime restrictions). The control room contains outboard gear, compressors, reverbs and effects with many digital effects and mastering tools and the PC along with cubase and other.
