Bobblejob is the free to use website that introduces people with odd jobs to do, to local people with the skills and time to do them! Got an odd-job you need doing, but don't want to fork out for a full-on contractor or pay call-out charges? Have some skills and spare time you could use to earn some extra cash? Bobblejob is for you! It's really simple to use. You just register, free-of-charge, and then you can post any odd-jobs that you need doing in the relevant section, or look for casual work in your area to make some extra money. When you find a local odd-job, which requires your skills, you put in a bid to do it, and the job-poster chooses the person they would like to hire. Bobblejob 'odd jobs' don't just mean the usual handyman type stuff, such as putting up shelves and painting walls. They can range from making birthday cakes to walking the dog, and from cello lessons to help with filling in a tax return. Anything that is helpful, legal and moral can be Bobblejobbed! There's even a section where you can find opportunities to do local voluntary work. We are launching on the Isle of Wight on November 1st, so sign up now FREE and select which categories you would be interested in doing jobs in, and we will email you as soon the jobs start rolling in :);
