Both mirrors are in good condition for their age, the floral backs are cardboard inserts. So you could insert your own template design.

My partner believes one of the mirrors is haunted. I have to admit i am wondering too! We have been collecting small antiques and vintage memorabilia for a while and we keep the stuff on a table until its photographed after which its put into storage. Since these mirrors have been in the collection we have heard some strange noises late in the evening and the other night im sure i saw one of them shining in the dark. I wasn't sure which one though.

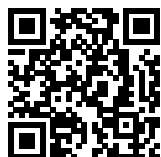

Update: Since removing these and putting them in storage the strange goings on have stopped. However, i was perplexed when i was question by our storage guys about a strange white glow being emitted from our storage unit! I kid you not.
