I am not only trained in the art of how and what to clean in domestic premises, I will also make your home an environmental friendly place to live. The most important part of my work is who we do it for, and that's where my special and proven skill comes into force. My training with certificates to view, is working with vulnerable elderly people, many who have dementia. I not only understand how to carry out the work with the least upheaval to my client, I am also on hand to give advice to the family of my service user, this can cover everything from food, routine, care in the home and how to get the help from local authorities to suit the needs of vulnerable elderly.
