My name is Adrian Henson, I am a graduate trained teacher from the University of East Anglia and an advanced graduate of the University of Bath with over 30 years experience in teaching and training in the UK and overseas. I will help all students of all ages to develop and expand their creative thoughts whilst still building structure and step by step processes using correct use of language and order. All new students will be assessed on the first lesson to identify both strengths and weaknesses to build on or to improve. I will help school students with homework and prepare them for exams! All of us learn in different ways and I will use accelerated learning techniques to maximise the student's learning using VAK (Visual, auditory and kinaesthetic learning opportunities). I will also use a variety of tasks from written challenges to spoken presentations and story telling to enhance and boost self esteem and confidence. Want to find out more? Then contact me today?
