SERVICES: REMOTE CCTV MONITORING Remote monitoring of your premises is possible with the distribution of CCTV footage from your cameras over the Internet. Live and pre-recorded footage can be viewed on a laptop or desktop from anywhere in the world as long as a broadband internet connection is available. This is a secure service and the footage is protected during transmission so hacking into the signal is not possible. One problem often encountered when wanting to remote view your CCTV system is actually finding it on the internet. Most people`s internet connection uses a process known as Dynamic IP address allocation. This means your internet "address" is constantly changing. Don't worry our set up gets round this problem for you by setting up a unique address for your CCTV system which uses a built in feature of our DVR recorders called an update client. If your CCTV system is not one installed by us we will need some information from you: the make and model of DVR, make and model of broadband router and your internet provider. Once we have this information we then visit your premises to get access to your internet hub or router and DVR. We will then create a secure internet access to your DVR for Remote access with your own username and password which you will be able to access anywhere in the world via the internet.
