I purchased this 1st class Camcorder for my wife as a Christmas present which originally cost in excess of £600 plus a UV filter and a larger battery. It has only been used a handful of times and spent almost its entire life in the box. My wife didn't like to say but preferred to just use her mobile which was quick and easy and for some time now been using a tab which now for her is the best thing since sliced bread and all she really wants hence why I am selling it. It is virtually mint condition and what can be seen in the photographs comes in its original box. Other than switching it on and off I don't know much about videoing as I only use an ordinary camera when necessary. Any technical information can be got from the web. £139.00 + postage or.
