If you happened to stumble upon this advert then you're probably looking for some good help fixing your computer. Do not worry, you're in the right place.

The computers today are infinitely complicated yet sleek and powerful machines that can make our lives so much easier. In the rare instances, however, they can wreck our nerves and ruin the day by misbehaving at the worst moment possible. This is where I come in.

I'm an experienced and A+ certified computer technician with loads of technical skills. I'm the sort of guy who enjoys tinkering and at the same time making someone's life a bit easier with my expertise. Having been a computer geek for the past 10 years I have learned and experienced how the systems work and how to best maintain any given computer. This includes laptops, desktops, tablets, smart-phones, sat-navs, printers and everything else.

If you have any sorts of trouble send me an e-mail or ring me up. I offer advice and concrete solutions on how best to resolve your problems.

Below is an example list of issues I can help you with.
