ONLY CRATE 2 AVAILABLE

I found these crates in a market in need of a lot of tlc and restoration.

Both crates' lids were broken but luckily I was able to save the parts where the printing was intact, which I used to make the front of the drawers and the remaining wood from the lid to use it as a shelf.

I repaired the crates and sanded them down to give them a good clean, being careful of not erasing the original printing.

I then gave them 2 coats of bees wax to protect them, while I painted the inside a vintage green to give it a fresher look.

Both crates have a lot of printing on the sides and on the top.

The crates are both from Argentina and Paraguay.

The photos show how well they have stood up to wear and tear. I think they look like expected for their age. The crates would fit in very well in a bedroom, as they are made from wood, and they would bring a touch of quirkiness as well as handy storage.
