This is as new condition. This was not restored to this condition this is how I acquired it around 20 years ago. I bought this one many years ago and was in as new condition. I have fitted it with an electronic microphone and converted to work. It has been fully tested to both dial out and receive perfectly.

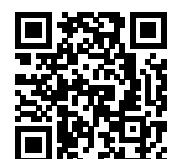

Probable date would be 1940s-50s. The handset cord has been changed as the original had rubber internal flex and had deteriorated over time. If your looking for something in out of the box condition then this is for you. Note the perfect enamel faced No 10.
