I think I have a super special mum who not only looks after me but also my poorly Grandad. My mum has brought me up alone following the death of my Dad. My mum works, keeps a house together despite not being well herself. My mum is kind & helps people in the community too. After my Dad died my mum moved us from London to Birmingham, settled us in our new home, me in a new school despite having to travel back to London to work. My mum always gets me to places like football, tutor & often looks very tired but she never moans. My mum devotes her whole life to me and doesn't often go out or do anything for herself as it's only me, mum & Grandad. I think my mum is the best and deserves a special treat for
