This is my 01 focus ghia, which i got in 2012 for £1100, it has been pranged twice (different times a year apart), on both rear wings, check pics, also recently developed a high rev problem when driving, think its just a sticky throttle body, which just needs a clean, also could do with a battery change as if left for more than a day it goes virtually flat, mot runs out end of this month (feb 2016), went straight through last mot without no probs, this car is a car well worth spending money on, apart from the issues noted, its a reliable car, virtually no rust, looks nice, only 89009 on clock, have the cars manual and audio manual with stereo code and v5 present plus history of some pre mots and jobs done.
