Women and girls like to wear all kinds of dresses. When we talk about ballet dance wear, these dresses have gained a lot of popularity over the years. The choice is much diverse when it comes to clothing. The dance dresses include leotards, tights, socks, and tutus. People who have a little or no knowledge regarding ballet would wonder over the variety of dresses that all seem necessary for the dancer to wear. You must know about the essential items, which are a part of the dress before buying them. Let's take a look at them: Tutus: Tutus is one of the important parts of the ballet dance wear. It holds the rank of the most famous item especially for girls and children. Tutus is available in two different types i.e. romantic tutu and classical tutu. It is basically a skirt which is made from various layers of netting referred to be a fluffy thing accompanied by the bodice. Leotard: Another essential piece of the ballet dance wear is leotard. It is made from a fitting material and it covers the body starting from the shoulders to the top of the thighs. Tutu is basically worn on top of the leotard. <http://stylewar.co.uk/skirts/Layered-TuTu>
