Water heaters were once called a household luxury; however it has now become a necessity for all the households. It is very difficult to take bath in the cold water early in the morning and it is unhealthy too, thus the water heaters have become an essential part of the household.

From the point of use to a facilities based solution our products cover a wide range of industries including: pharmaceutical, printed circuit, healthcare, and related markets. . All Hubbell products are engineered and manufactured in the US, in ISO 9001:2008 certified facilities and meet all of the current standards including: cULus, ASME, ASHRAE, ANSI/NSF5. When you specify and install a Hubbell water heater, you can be confident in knowing that you will be provided the industry's longest lasting, trouble free water heater.
