machine is as good as new, bought for £3k - Pick Up only!

It cleans injectors, diesel rails and decarbonises engines

The technology applies to Motorcycles, Cars (Petrol & Diesel), Vans, Trucks, Motorboats, Agricultural vehicles and Plant and Machinery. All such engineering projects demand close attention to the condition of the test vehicles being used. The engineering inspections carried out in this project clearly demonstrated that the process was not only not developing carbon build up, usually associated with all internal combustion engines, in fact it was removing pre-existing carbon previously built up in the engines as well as other deposits which usually build up particularly from use of lower grade/quality fuels. So whilst the Zero Emissions vehicle project was set aside the technology was taken in a different direction and the concept of Decarbonisation equipment was developed. This has proven very successful with over 13,000 machines in operation in the North American market, mainly in franchised dealer workshops. Whilst quite new to the UK marketplace already the technology is proving its value to private owners and fleet operators alike, who are both saving money by reduced fuel costs and lowering their emissions. Essentially by taking a vehicle back to its level of cleanliness not long after being new the efficiency and performance are
