Struggling with all the latest technology? I am finding many people struggling with all this new technology, especially the older generations, sometimes its even difficult just to remember what we are shown, this is where I maybe able to help you, with much patience and an easy teaching method and written information left for you where needed, it maybe all you need to get you up and running confidently with your PC or any other household item you are having difficulties with. With over 20 years plus experience and a lot of patience, I can help you to navigate your way around your computer, mobile phone, home surround system and other items with ease, from using Google, setting up email accounts and sending emails and other installations of other household items. Please contact Clare to see if I can help you. Based in Fareham, Hampshire email - tel - 07913 542
