2 piece (double extender) loft ladder I took out of job I was doing. I now need space so selling as is. (meaning all attachments still on it, plus the piece of timber that was fixed inside loft. This was so that fittings were still kept in place & you can work out how it was fixed. (see pictures) Each half is approx 2.1m tall. So extended height, with 3 or 4 overlapping rungs, should be around 3.5m or just over. (just a guess as not opened it to full extent to see) This is way more than needed for most modern homes. You will need either a van or a roof rack to pick up.;
