Location

West Midlands, Warwickshire

Join Alan Ranger on a journey to capture the beauty that is Bluebells in this fantastic photography workshop. Throughout the day, you will learn to recognise correct lighting, contrast and texture, as well as the impact of long exposure and shallow depth of field. We have exclusive access to this private woodland for these photography workshops so a rare treat to photograph a managed woodland carpet of these wonderful spring flowers. Capture close up macro or a wider perspective. No prior knowledge of photography is needed, so come along! Don't worry if you can't make this workshop, as Alan Ranger Photography runs many more throughout the year, as well as courses, masterclasses and online tuition. www.alanranger.com/photography/
