NORTHUMBERLAND BEST KEPT SECRET

Where Are We?

Based in Northumberland, a 30 minute drive from Newcastle, Cresswell Towers Holiday Park is a unique woodland park which offers a great place to relax, socialise and has a great range of activities on and off the park.

Approximately a quarter of the county is protected as the Northumberland National Park, an area of outstanding landscape that has largely been protected from development and agriculture. The national park stretches south from the Scottish border and includes Hadrian's Wall. The Northumberland Coast is also a designated area of outstanding natural beauty.

Cresswell is a village in Northumberland, England. It is about 20 miles to the north of Newcastle, on the North Sea coast.

About The Park

It is a popular bird watching area with Cresswell pond and bird hide nearby and the Druridge Bay Country Park is only 3 miles away. The village has an award winning team shop and is home to Cresswell Towers Holiday Park. Cresswell Towers takes its name from the old tower nearby. There is a footpath down to the sea from the caravan campers use the footpath to Park the holiday year. If you are not a licensed party goer then you can't go here and get a good. If it's a good time you have, you want to enjoy the full week's entertainment Cresswell Towers can cater for all needs.
