We have recently moved into a house with a 2,000 gallon pond (approx.), however, we have no idea how the system works and understand the system requires a lot of spare time in order to maintain the upkeep. As such we want to sell the equipment.

The previous owners kept ten very large koi carp in the pond.

The filtration system is a econobead 40 which accommodates up to a 2000 gallon pond.

The uv lighting system is a kockney koi yamitsu algae master ultra violet unit. I am led to believe it has a 15 watt bulb.

Other system parts include the pump, blower, skimmer, de-chlorinating unit and several valves . All pipe work seen is also included.

I have the full instructions for both the uv light and bead filter together with rough instructions from previous owner on how to maintain the system.

£400 or offers accepted - can forward photos on if interested via email or phone.

As I said, this is way out of our depth and have no idea how to dismantle a system like this.
