Blackcurrant is a widely utilized in Europe as an herbal medicine. Women take it to ease PMS as well as Menopause symptoms. It is also utilized as a diuretic, to treat colds, fevers as well as flu symptoms. Black currants carry a huge amount of phenolic flavonoid phytochemicals called anthocyanins. It has been said that the consumption of Black Currant Syrup may offer many health benefits because of their high anti-oxidant value of 7950 Trolox Equivalents per hundred grams. Antioxidants have been said to fight off free radicals, decrease the effects of ageing, inflammation, and possibly protect from various forms of cancer.
