I am an experienced primary school teacher and have worked in junior and middle schools for 25 years both in London and the South Wales areas. I have taught children between the ages of 6 and 13 and have also tutored individuals between these ages. I am currently available for Maths or English lessons on weekday evenings or at weekends at your home. I am happy to travel anywhere in Cardiff or the Valleys and can let you see a current DBS check and my qualifications. I can also provide excellent references. If you think your child could do with a little extra support in Maths or English or if they are struggling in school I would be happy to discuss things with you and put some support in place for them. I have also tutored children who are sitting exams for entrance to selective schools. Please feel free to contact me and I would be happy to discuss your.
