Designed with the original Excel brief in mind – under 3500kg, low-profile, diesel heating the 670B echoes its shorter sister model, the 600B, with a rear corner fixed double bed. But with a slightly longer body giving you a bit more room. Heat and hot water first, and here Excel departs from the norm, fitting Webasto's DualTop unit under the "van. Unlike the (more common) gas-fired Truma Combi boiler, this unit runs on diesel from the vehicle's tank. Thus, as long as you have plenty of diesel in the tank, you'll always be warm and have hot water on tap. Another advantage of this unit is the fact that it can be used while you're travelling, helping to keep the whole "van warm and - when you desire - allowing arrival on site with a full tank of hot.
