Location London, London

Guitar lessons available for both electric and acoustic.

My name is Gary and I currently hold a Diploma in Popular Music Practice Awarded by Tech Music School in conjunction with Thames Valley University and an Advanced Certificate Of Life Long Learning awarded by the the London College Of Music in conjunction with The University of West London.

I try to make all my lessons as fun and enjoyable as possible and tailor each lesson to the individual needs of the student. I believe that it is important for a student to really enjoy his or her time with their tutor as it helps keep them focused and keen to learn more.

The Guitar can be a very challenging instrument to master but with the right approach from the tutor anyone can learn how to play, regardless of age.

Lessons can follow a theoretical lesson plan for those who wish to learn both the practical side and the theory side of the instrument, or can follow a mainly practical lesson plan that involves learning different songs each lesson as knowing the theory behind the instrument is not fundamental in learning how to play it.

A Guitar can be supplied if the student does not have one already, so parents you don't have to spend any additional money before you are certain that the Guitar is the right instrument for your child, we all know how quickly kids can change their minds.

Lessons are available for both children ages 8 and upwards, the fee for adults or those over 18 is £25 per hour. I also have an introductory offer for new members.

The price for Lessons is £17 per hour within 10 miles of High Barnet and £20 for 11 to 15 miles from High Barnet. Lessons to areas further than then the above will be charged at £25 per hour.
