The Romahome R20 is based on the Citroen Berlingo diesel van. It is a two-berth compact motorhome with a galley kitchen with two burner hob and grill under which is a 3-way powered fridge. Directly opposite the hob is the sink unit. There is a fair amount of storage under the bench seats which run along each side of the van. These bench seats also serve as two single beds or with the addition of the wooden slats provided will make a large double bed. The van has a fresh water and waste water tank, there are two outside lockers one of which holds the gas bottle and the other is a handy storage area.
