This is a two pedestal Oak roll-top desk from ~1920. It has three draws per pedestal, plus two small drawers above the desk surface. Above the drawers are pull-out slates for additional desktop space (see pictures). It has a beautiful roll-top that comes down over the desk and all the pigeon holes. The roll-top locks with a key.

The desk is 122cm wide, 75cm deep, and 121cm at the highest point. The desk surface is at 77cm high. The pedestals are 33cm wide each. The desk has been restored and is in very good condition (no scratches/marks). It's a very nice piece of furniture which can be used as a home work place.

The desk disassembles into three parts (two pedestals and top section), which makes it possible to put in a large car (and get into small flats!). Buyer pays on collection (no).
