If you have just found you have a voice, or if you have been told you can sing but aren't sure what step to take next, if you've been singing for a while but have let it slide and want to get your voice back into shape, all you need is some vocal coaching! I offer 1to1 singing lessons in the Hastings, Bexhill and St Leonard's area. I teach in professional recording studios and tailor your lessons to your wants and needs as a vocalist. I only aim for the very best, and you will never leave a lesson confused about what you're studying or without some new knowledge on your voice and technique. After a few weeks of training with me, I provide every student with a home practise book so we can keep up to date with what we're studying and see what we have achieved. Book a consultation with me today and let's hear what your goals are as a vocalist. I can also help with songwriting, performance anxiety, where to find auditions and how to record your first album in the best quality studios in East Sussex as well as industry advice and 'emergency sessions' (my students tend to call before a gig or an audition for 30 minutes of prep talk and also warming up the body and voice the smart way. To fix any vocal issues and to go over some training). I can teach lessons over Skype. All ages are welcome, please visit my Facebook Page for more information www.facebook.com
