Enomis hair " hair on demand" offering a professional hair service in London. Enomis hair was created by a young, creative and dynamic professional who has excellent customer services having previously worked in dentistry, music and the creative industries. I come from a corporate background in management and had developed an approachable and friendly skills. I had always been surrounded by hair professionals in my life and just did not like how I was treated. After being made redundant in 2010, I was immediately drawn to the idea of enrolling on a combine hairdressing course giving me the opportunity to work with both Afro and European hair types. I had the opportunity of working in an upmarket salon which gave me an in-depth insight of working in an affluent as well as high-end clients in . I then later worked with a salon that specialized in Afro hair for two years and decided that I would like to go on my own. I Love doing hair am passionate about hair and it shows through my work. I am located right across from Brondesbury station inside The Royal.
