Approximately 19 inches (48cm) diameter and 2 inches (5cm) thick. This is a lovely vintage 1930's Regency style wall mirror, sometimes known as a Butlers Mirror because the mirror glass is convex and when hung in a dining room the Butler can see everyone at the table! The gilt surround has small balls evenly spaced around the edge and there are four stylish motifs on the outer rim. The back of the mirror retains its original chain and fittings. Approximately 19 inches (48cm) diameter and 2 inches (5cm) thick. It is in good used, vintage condition. The glass is good with no crazing. One of the balls is missing. There are a few tiny scuffs and chips here and there, the usual marks for a vintage item, nothing serious. A genuine vintage item! Collection.
