Needing to find a forever home for my gorgeous brindle boy. Absolutely no fault of his own. He's fully house trained, micro chipped, up to date with vaccinations, up to date with flea and worm treatments, nurtured. He's roughly around the 9 month old mark (not sure on exact date of birth). Please take note he is still young and does still have puppy behavior in him, he really needs someone who will give him 100% attention, a lot of time and patience. Training on the lead will be needed for him and he will need lots of walks and exercise he is not satisfied with just a garden to play in. He's been regularly socialized with other dogs and gets along fine with them (again take note he is very young, hyper, boisterous and full of energy), not sure on cats and personally I think he's better of been in a home with no children (he is fine with children as I have a toddler and there has been no issue, he leaves her alone as does she) but I would just prefer it if he could be somewhere where he gets all the attention and love he deserves! He is so lovable and I will happily explain the reasons for re-homing to anyone that is interested . Please only get in touch if your 100% certain you can give him what he!
