I'm regretfully selling my seat exeo TDI, this car has been problem free since buying it and runs like clockwork, I'm getting at least 50+ miles per gallon and it's a very comfy car, for those who know, the engine in the exeo is from an audi a4 and the interior from an audi cabrio so there is some pretty good equipment and its very reliable. I have just had the mot and it comes with no advisories, the front brakes, pads and discs were replaced about three months ago and it has 4 new goodyear eagle F1 tyres and a 1 spare. I will miss this car loads but a change of career is on the horizon so I need the extra money.
