Canon Powershot SX150 has served me well. It's a great little camera for those who just want to snap and also good for starting photography.

It has 14.1 megapixels, along with an array of settings - so you really can use it for portraits, landscapes, etc. There's even black and white options and automatic face smoothing out options! Includes 4GB memory card & AA Batteries....:-

Blurb:-The Canon PowerShot SX150 IS is a 14.1 megapixel compact camera featuring a 12x zoom lens complete with optical image stabilizer. Successor to last year's SX130 model, the Canon SX150 IS offers a versatile focal range of 28-336mm, 3 inch LCD screen, DIGIC 4 image processor, Intelligent IS technology and Face Detection complete with Face Select & Track and Face Self-Timer modes. The SX150 IS has 32 shooting modes including Smart Auto and Easy Mode for complete beginners and full manual control for more experienced photographers. A high ISO setting of 1600, 720p HD movies with stereo sound, SDXC memory card support and power in the form of readily available AA batteries complete the SX150's headline specifications. The Canon Powershot SX150 IS is priced at £199 / $249.99 / €229.00 and is available now in red, black or silver.

Canon traditionally updates its SX budget compact superzoom line sees the release of the £199 Canon PowerShot SX150 IS. The SX130 IS replacement is a case of evolution over revolution – not a bad thing, considering the great features and value the SX130 offered.

The Canon PowerShot SX150 IS features a 14.1MP CCD (a 2MP increase on the SX130's 12.1MP) and an image stabilised 5-60mm 12x wide-angle zoom that offers the same 28-336mm equivalent reach as its predecessor. The bright, but relatively low-res, 3-inch LCD from last year's model is also retained.

There's been a slight tweak to the layout of the controls – specifically, the welcome introduction of a direct zoom button on the side of the camera. The optical image stabilisation has also been upgraded. The new Canon PowerShot SX150 IS has a new line-finder system designed to identify the shooting situation and display the most appropriate form of information from a range of seven different settings, including a new 'Shooting' and 'Zoom' IS. ...
