The Lastolite Cubelite is the ideal solution to achieving shadowless product photography allowing the photographer control over the lighting of product shots minimising shadows and isolating the subject from the background. Offering a true location studio the Cubelite pops-up instantly ready for use and collapses down to a third of its original size for storage and transport in its handy carry bag. Background clips are mounted in the top for added height, an open base means it can be used over immoveable objects such as plants and the front opens fully for wider viewing angles. ;
