

MPA Parabolix LayFlat Carryall (35 GBP)

Location East of England, Cambridgeshire https://www.freeadsz.co.uk/x-440911-z

Rather than going down the traditional carryall route of a single large compartment, which so often ends up in an annoying mass of tangled catapults and reel cases, MAP have devised an innovative fold-out system consisting of separate zip-up sections that not only makes access quick and easy, but ensures every item of tackle has its own safe and secure place.

All items designed to complement each other. The main carryall is made up of four compartments earmarked for stashing keepnets and landing net heads in an open front pocket, with a zipped-off pocket behind for side trays and bait waiters. Pole rollers and tripods go in the next part, with accessories such as catapults, pellet pumps and float tubes in another. The unit is finished off with a lay-flat insulated slot for small bait tubs and bags of prepared expander pellets, luncheon meat and the like.

The problem with old-style carryalls is that if you need something at the bottom of the bag you need to take everything else out to get at it! Said MAPs Mike Robinson. > This system keeps everything in order so you know where things are every time you go out. The carryall, when folded up, is held in place by two secure clips on the front net pocket, with each compartment stacking neatly on top of the next one. Cost £75 new and sought after by the commercial boys. The video will tell you the...
