This listing is for both sofa modules pictured.

They are in exemplary condition being undamaged and showing no signs of wear or any perceivable fading.

Obviously the structure and fabrics are of the highest quality and durability. These represent a bespoke order placed by the current owner in a fabric of her choice so are unique.

This iconic modular sofa system was designed by Hans Hopfer and became an instant classic in 2001 upon its appearance in the Roche-Bobois range.

This configuration is made up of six components - four cushions and two backs. The Mah Jong concept is incredibly versatile and can be formatted in a number of ways.

Perfect indoors, outdoors or as a large futon bed (with all four cushions laid flat).

Anyone who knows the Mah Jong knows that it is one of the all-time stylish sofas designs. It makes any home that extra bit special.

Needles to say this offering provides a substantial saving over the cost new. So if the fabric design fits with your desired interior décor then get in touch and arrange a viewing.

Mah Jong is still available new from Roche Bobois on Finchely Road, London where each component/cushion sells for £500, so each unit would normally sell for £1500, so you save £1850 on these matching units.

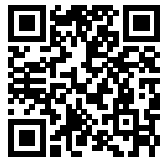

These were upholstered by Roche Bobois in a bespoke fabric.... so there are no others in this fabric that exists! Needless to say it's a top quality Art Deco geometric print fabric that was used commensurate with this premium quality item.

Dimensions are 39" x 39" seat pad is 13" from the floor... and from the floor to the top of the lowered
