im selling my daughters Guinea pigs with all there stuff as she has sadly lost interest in them and I am not the greatest at handling them so there just existing which is sad they need to be with someone who will play spend time with them and groom them.. They are friendly I keep them in house and they are hilarious when you open your fridge they go nuts cause they know they are getting there veggies. They go out and run about while I'm cleaning there cage out and when I put there food back in they go in quite the thing I learned how to bribe them. I hope someone can give them a good fun loving home,;
