ABOUT ME

My name is Ignacio, but everyone calls me Nacho (yes, I know... like the Mexican crisps). My name can be seen as a funny way to call someone, but in fact, in Spain and South America it is a very normal nickname for Ignacio. Anyway, if you want to make some jokes about it, you can. Unfortunately, I'm used to it... Some even say I'm a cannibal because I like to eat nachos.

Well, I'm from Madrid, Spain, and lived in the UK for a few years and am now back home teaching my language online.

I received a degree in Environmental Sciences from the University of Salamanca and also I hold a Master's in Green Energy and another in Education. When I finished at university, I decided to discover what the world had to offer me. Then, I moved to the UK where I wanted to improve (or learn) English. My stay there was longer than I initially thought. I had so many jobs, from a job as a kitchen porter in a restaurant to some jobs in different companies and even in several secondary schools where I worked as a Science teacher.

After living in London, Blackpool, Oban (Scotland), York, Leeds and a short time in Germany where I taught Spanish as a freelancer in my free time in all these places. I found out that teaching my language was my passion.

For a part of my time working in Africa where I met a lot of people who didn't speak Spanish, I decided to go to Africa. I received the first certification of the Spanish language for foreign teachers.

Teacher specialising in the teaching of Spanish as a Foreign Language". International House Madrid. An accredited centre of Instituto Cervantes.

Thanks to this long journey, I have experience from elementary to advanced levels with one to one private classes and groups as well, and what I can say is that every student is different. I consider that student A and B have different needs. Because of this reason, my program and method are very flexible and my lessons are 100% customised to you.

WHY TO CHOOSE MY SYSTEM?

My program and method are very flexible and my lessons are 100% customised to you, and the most important thing is, you are going to speak Spanish from the first moment. I promise. Anyway, I'm fluent in English (C1 certificate) so, in some specific situations I can resolve your doubts in English if you feel lost and we can't find another option to do it, but please, don't get used to it.

The first lesson is for free, with no compromise (30 mins). Just to meet each other and to find out what you need, how you prefer to learn the language, and also to allow me to identify your level and goals and provide you with an understanding of my methodology.

As you can see, you have nothing to lose. I encourage you to try it. Come on, hurry up and book your free lesson now!

Nacho.

PS: Feel free to visit my website WWW.HALFSPANISH.COM You can watch my introduction video and if you like it, active the subtitles in it.
