This is an ad for my 2005 / 55reg Audi A4 Avant 2.0 TDI 6 speed 140bhp with 115k on the clock in metallic black. The car is immaculate for its age and mileage, I doubt you will find a nicer example, this must be seen. The car has a lot of documentation from its life, I have owned it for nearly 5 years and it has not wanted for anything. The car uses the longlife oil however I complete a full oil and filter change along with all other filters at the time of MOT each year no matter what the service light is saying. The car has a new MOT with no advisories – expires 09/10/2017. Since my ownership the car has had the usual consumables of the odd bulb and wiper blades but nothing major. Last year it had 2 new rear brake callipers due to them sticking slightly along with new discs and pads. The air conditioning has been recently re charged and blows nice and cold. Ive also fitted a set of 18” Audi replica alloy wheels in the past year as the originals had corroded on the beads and needed 4 new tyres so it made sense to fit new wheels and tyres. The wheels are unmarked, the tyres are still like new. The cam belt and associated items were replaced by the previous owner at 73k so is not due for sometime. The car is in immaculate condition with only slight stone chips and age related marks, but you would have to look hard to find them. The interior is immaculate and unmarked. This car drives faultlessly with plenty of power when you want it, and very economical with the 6 speed gearbox. Around town it currently returns low to mid 40's mpg. The tax is low as is the insurance. The car is very well spec'd to include the following standard equipment; Remote locking with 2 keys, 1 being brand new.

 The only negative point to the car is the rear parking sensors work intermittently. This car must be seen, you won't find a nicer one genuine reason for sale. Test drives welcome on production of insurance and driving licence. The car will not be released without payment cleared in full. The car is located in Polegate East Sussex. The mileage will rise slightly as it is still in daily use however not considerably. The car is now on its original number plate, the private plate has been removed and is not included in the sale. Any questions please ask, serious enquiries only though please, no stupid.
