Refurbished PC/Laptops with Linux OS Computer repairs and maintenance in your home and office NO call-out charge Free, No obligation quotes NO fix No fee PCs over five years only are now routinely consigned to the attic or landfill. The latter are reaped and their precious metals stripped, the remainder returned to landfill. There is a subtle belief that these systems are obsolete and we must buy new with the wonderful, new operating system! That to run a modern O/S a quad core and at least 4gb are required, and where this is true to the point of streamlining some of the things we all do today, does that mean that a dual core cannot. Linux distributions can revitalise almost any hardware even P4s. The question is how much of the new O/S are really utilising your new hardware. With the advent with systems such as Android this has been proved, where much lighter hardware is being used to perform the same tasks. Linux is the base of all of these the sub-strata if you like. Think twice about purchasing that new machine, give us a call and drag out that old pc.
