I am a published mobile and desktop game developer, offering home tuition to children from 8-16 with an interest in learning how games are made, which will also give a head start/assist with studies in GCSE Computer Science and A-Level Computing. The end goal will be for the child to create their own game or app to be published on the app stores, starting from the ground up and progressing at whatever pace the child is comfortable with. Access to own Windows or Mac laptop is preferred for practising at home but not essential. Travel to your home within Worthing will increase the hourly rate to £20. ;
