Breakdown is Processor CPUScore 7.1
Memory 7.1
Disk Score 7.4
Graphics Score 6.8
Gaming 3D Score 6.8
Average is 7 Here's what each of the grades actually mean:
•Processor: Calculations per second.
In most systems, the speed of your processor is how fast your computer is. •Memory: Memory operations per second.
How fast your computer is able to simultaneously The better your memory score, the more tabs and programs you can open at once. •Graphics: Desktop performance for Windows Aero.
In Windows 7, Windows Aero is what allows the "glass" transparent effect. •Gaming graphics: 3D business and gaming graphics performance
Running games like Call of Duty or Crysis? This grade determines how good your graphics card is at that.
•Primary hard disk: Disk data transfer rate.
How fast does your computer load when you turn it on? How long do on-disk movies, games and other files take to execute? This grade answers those questions.
