

Devon (Cookbury) camping land/plot for swap/sell.

Welcome to my little slice of the blissful Devonshire countryside to swap.

I have a large family which meant in our earlier years we were only able to afford holidays during peak seasons by camping and caravanning.

This works OK if you are blessed with good weather, this is rarely the case. On our last paid for camping adventure we were monsooned out to theatrical proportions. We packed up early and went home thoroughly drenched and miserable. I was very unhappy about having spent so much money on such a crummy holiday. So I decided to go my own way.

I bought a plot of land in the beautiful Devon country side within an area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. We used this for all further camping and caravan adventures we were to have. Because of the space we were able to bring tents or marquees and could spread out. The kids could shout and scream and have room for games etc. We also sometimes took our caravan with us. It has enabled us to take advantage of any sunny weekend at a moments notice, reducing the risk of drowning for a holiday booked 6 months in advance! Locally there is a pub, a sports center (good for rainy days and amenities) a little further there is Bude beach with free cold showers as well as plenty more.

I absolutely adore this area of the country, and consider it my own slice of paradise, but unfortunately my time will run down upon me. I get to see this which any time and I am now looking for something more useful to see. Such as a large boat, garage, workshop, and a lot of storage space for my garden.

The house is approx 23.5 meters. Call now for SALE 06 369

This is very sad for me, the plot has been worth a fortune for me by making as many holidays I did utterly hassle free. And of course being the very proud owner of such a beautiful part of the country.
