Hannah Moodie is not only an expert singing teacher with 15 years of experience for both children and adults of all abilities, she is also a qualified personal trainer who specialises in core function and postural correction in order to help singers get the most out of their bodies for optimal breath control and tone. She has extensive knowledge of vocal anatomy allowing her to work with people who struggle to produce their sound with fluency and ease. Lessons will typically combine specific vocal exercises tailored to your needs, and masterclass style coaching on songs or arias.;
