Editing/Proofreading/Websites Service Content Editing and Proofreading for a range of products Website content: I can swiftly check each and every section of text on your website to ensure its English is standard and effective and can make specific recommendations to improve your communication to potential and actual clients. Online Essay Tutoring: Fire an essay draft over to me online, let me make recommendations and get it back to you, back and forth until you are satisfied with the results. This takes all the strain out of the task of writing an essay. Proofreading: Email me a piece of written work that you have completed and let me proofread it for you, correcting any errors on the spot. Editing: Further to proofreading, if you have a piece of writing that you have finished but aren't quite happy with, email it to me and I will make recommendations to maximise its results. Inspiration: If you're short of ideas, don't know where to start, or are staring helplessly at a blank page, I have a number of tools to help you and to keep you on the right track.
