REGENT STREET ARTISTS has 3 professional recording studios based in the heart of Soho, London, the hub of the UK's booming music scene. Formerly known as the legendary Berwick Street Studios our 3 professional recording facilities have been used by plenty of renowned bands, singers and recording artists over the years. Some of which include: David Bowie, Ringo Starr of the Beatles, The Specials, Depeche Mode, Björk, PM Dawn and The Chemical Brothers. Our main purpose is to spot new musical talent and to nurture their abilities with the hope of sustaining a musical career. We take on unsigned singers and songwriters and through the process of collaborating with professional producers help to get them on the way to becoming experienced recording artists. Since starting business we have associated with many big names in the music industry, media and beyond. Some of these include: ITV, BBC, Warner Brothers, Apple, Oxjam, Habana Creative Production, Wired Magazine, Band Vault and Vivienne.
