COMMISSIONS Commission a beautifully drawn or painted portrait which captures the character and essence of your loved one. Please let me know your portrait idea and I will guide you through the commission process. Initially we will talk about your idea, the individual's character and which size and media you would prefer. You are welcome to see my portfolio and work at my studio in Bournemouth. I usually start working from a photo. Send me your photos, or I can arrange to take them for you instead. I will create a mock up using the selected photo, and then begin the portrait once this is confirmed. If necessary I can work from sittings later on. I will keep you updated on its progress, and just before completion you will be able to review and suggest changes. Finally you will receive an incredible, heart-warming portrait! MATERIALS I use top quality materials to give the best results. PRICING Prices vary according to size and detail. I can make portraits in all variations from single head and shoulder, half body, full body, group portraits, and work up to any size. Please contact me for a quote, including your contact details, budget and portrait idea. I am very happy to answer any questions you might have. Moving beyond appearances, my work describes the character, essence, and soulfulness of each individual. The purpose of my art practice is to encourage the viewer to connect with the subject, to wonder what they are thinking and to see who they really are. BIOGRAPHY I studied Fine Art at the University of the South Coast where I enjoyed creating and working in various media. I used contemporary and traditional techniques to create lively and vibrant works. I studied on the first and second years of the programme and completed my final year project at the Surrey Institute of Art and Design and Fine Art in Bournemouth. Here I specialised in contemporary dance, video, and painting. My work is centred on contemporary dance, capturing its movement, flow, energy and colour. She explored meaning, connection and purpose behind art, and wrote her dissertation on the link between art and spirituality. After completing her degree she moved to London and started specialising in portraiture. Her work focuses on bringing out the liveliness, essence and character of the individual and imbues each work with rich and energetic tones. Kate will create the perfect portrait for you that will wow and touch your heart. She now lives in Bournemouth creating and selling portraits to individuals or galleries, and takes commissions from around the world. Please contact her for more information. KATE MARR OWNS THE
