Government is the single governing authority in a country and they are further divided into smaller councils for each city or a region. Travel and tourism sector consists of a lot of natural sites which are considered as a national ownership of all. To govern this, it is necessary to have a system by which the resources will not be exploited for personal use by the managers, but it will be so developed into a system where everyone will be able to make use of it in a non-threatening way.
